INFORMATION

Playing around with the Mutoh Scriber ET SOS in 2011 was a lot of fun - it was during my Thesis, supported by Prof. Frank Philippin.

Konrad Regel gave it to me, his parents were architects and they used it for a while. I started to play around and put an Brush-Pen in instead of a Rapidograph. I choosed DIN and started to generate letters.

DIN Brush contains 2 OpenType Stylistic Sets: -Pixel Brush- and -Messy Brush- in 3 weights.

It's a very lazy font, many glyphs are not included. It is hardly recommended to use this font in big sizes, short texts, probably headlines only.

DIN Vario and Muto are two more typefaces I designed by using the Scriber. With Muto the trilogy has come to an end.

DESIGN

DIN Brush is designed by Rade Matic, two thousand and eleven.
